How to Use the New Measuring Tool

- 1) Write the names of each member of the family on the chart.
- 2) Hang the chart on the refrigerator or some other central location.
- 3) Explain the chart to your family. (You may need to do this several times).

This chart measures two items at home:

- D6 Faith Talk – The goal of being a disciple is to share what is learned from the lesson and the devotions. Maybe this occurs at home, school, or work. Just encourage family members to be a witness for Christ and His Word. Parents should especially be encouraged to share with their children. Use the D6 devotional magazines for each age of the family or use ideas from Home Connection or Splink.
- Devotions – The devotional study guides provide six days of helping the student stay in the Word.

D6 Faith Talk

Color in the circle of the talk bubble labeled with FT if the family member shared the lesson, devotion, Home Connection or other faith talk with anyone during the previous week.

Devotions

Color in the circle for each day devotions were done. You will see M- Monday, T- Tuesday, W- Wednesday, etc.

Tips for Implementing

- We strongly recommend encouragement, not guilt or shame, for those who only do part of a category.
- Consider using an incentive (especially for children) to encourage participation in this weekly challenge.
- The goal of this chart is to encourage discipleship, which occurs daily and not just on Sundays. Your kids will value what you value and if you encourage them to read their devotions and share their faith, they will more likely model what you teach. Do not be discouraged if every family member does not accomplish the goals; Christ was patient with His disciples as we must be with our students.
- Even if one person grows in discipleship, your extra effort is worth it.
- Use the weekly reports to inform your children's Sunday School teachers of their progress at home.
